

Google Street View looking northwest, the hydro pole in the centre of the image is considered a fixed object in any reconstruction design. Note the number of lines attached in each direction; approximately 40 total.

View of northwest corner, facing north. Property corner is approximately at red dot.